UNIFY

This is the first step where you identify why you want to create a shift in your mindset and achieve a new level of mastery.

It involves defining your inner archetypes, objectives, where you are at present, what needs to change and where the gaps are.

In this phase of your journey you create a detailed list of what you need. Clarifying each of the key elements aligned with your archetypes and past life recall.

You will need to be clear on your Inner archetype, shadow attribute, flawed character and higher purpose avatar for this realm.

This is the phase where you put your detailed list into action. Recognising the specific opening scene, and pain point and writing them into your extended Past Life narrative.

Also extending your story after that pain point and onto your happy ending.

The final phase involves completing the process and delivering your story. It also involves expressing the outcomes or benefits of unifying particular key elements .

These key elements are: Why your Potential Gift; your Mastery, your Higher Purpose Avatar and owning your Personal Mythos (story) - are so valuable to you, your purpose and your world around you.
